

QUICK ATOMIC BOMB CONTROL URGED

CHINESE REDS
THROWN BACK
AT RAIL TOWNBITTER FIGHTING
RAGES IN INNER MONGOLIA

BY SPENCER MOOSA
Chungking, Nov. 14 (AP)—Crack Communist troops were thrown back in savage fighting as they hurled heavy attacks at two major Nationalist strongholds in Inner Mongolia, an official dispatch said today.

The battles still swirled about the railway terminal of Patow and long-besieged Kweisui, capital of Suiyuan province 80 miles to the east, where the Communists threw in 10,000 reinforcements, the dispatch added.

The attack at Patow, western terminal of the now-severed Peiping-Suiyuan railroad, opened at 3 a. m. yesterday and 3,000 Communist troops forced the western gate, this account claimed. Eleven hours later they were expelled.

Four Armies Landed
Gen. Ho Lung, famed Communist commander, meanwhile was reported to have attacked Kweisui with five columns 10,000 strong.

The situation remained obscure on the southern border of Manchuria, southeast of this battle zone, where neutral advisers had reported Nationalist troops had captured the Communist fortress city of Shanhaikwan (Linyo).

A Communist spokesman declared the government had landed four armies at the U. S. Marine-occupied port of Chinwangtao for the sole purpose of seizing Shanhaikwan and pushing on into Manchuria.

A foreign office spokesman, meanwhile, made the first official Chungking admission that China was having difficulty in negotiating with Russia for the entry into Manchuria.

Peace Hopes Dim
Minister of Information K. C. Wu denied a rumor affloa

Chungking that Russia had granted Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek permission to fly 1,500 troops to Changchun, Manchuria capital.

A government spokesman also denied a Communist charge that American lend-lease material still was being sent into China for use in the campaign against Chinese Reds.

Most foreign and Chinese quarters here took a dim view of the forthcoming "peace conference" of the political consultative council which is expected to meet Nov. 20.

An encouraging fact in foreign circles, however, was the Communist agreement to send representatives to the meeting. It is thought that as long as negotiations continue, the possibility—no matter how slight—of a peaceful settlement exists.

HONOLULU RIOT
THUGS HUNTEDTrouble-Making Between Sailors and Civilians
Traced By Police

Honolulu, Nov. 14 (AP)—Police patrols were doubled tonight in the Damon housing district and detectives swarmed through the dim-lit area looking for hoodlums suspected of provoking Monday night's riot between 1,500 navy men and civilians.

Police Chief W. A. Gabrielson announced that the redoubled police force would track down reports of trouble-making by civilian hoodlums.

Navy participants in the rioting had said they charged into the district looking for "local toughies" who had made repeated attacks on sailors. They claimed the police had done nothing to check the wave of unprovoked assaults and robbery.

All was calm last night after the shore patrol called in police to help them break up crowds of sailors congregating at the gates of the station.

Meanwhile navy officers met with Honolulu police officials at the Pearl Harbor naval yard to discuss a plan for joint law enforcement in order to prevent further outbreaks.

Earlier, a naval air station spokesman had blamed city police and Gabrielson had blamed the navy for allowing the situation to get out of hand.

Gabrielson insisted that his department had cooperated with the navy.

First Pearl Harbor
Witnesses Called
At Public Hearing

Washington, Nov. 14 (AP)—Congress tonight summoned an admiral and a colonel as first witnesses in the Pearl Harbor inquiry.

The joint congressional committee will start public hearings tomorrow when Rear Admiral T. B. Inglis and Col. Bernard Thielon on the stand.

Inglis is chief of naval intelligence. Thielon is on the army general staff. Neither was at Pearl Harbor December 7, 1941.

Chairman Barkley (D-Ky.) didn't explain why the committee selected these two. The inference was that their testimony will set the stage for developing what was happening in higher circles during those tense days preceding the outbreak of the Pacific war.

A new pledge of a "fair, impartial" inquiry was made on the eve of the hearings. It came from Rep. Murphy (D-Pa.), a member of the committee, during an angry exchange in the House.

Murphy took special time to denounce Republican members who have insisted on conducting what he called their own investigation. He was aiming at Reps. Keefe (R-Wis.) and Gearhart (R-Calif.) who have interviewed a naval intelligence officer, Capt. Alwin D. Kramer, and only yesterday called on J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the FBI.

Transfer From V-12
Offered Trainees

Washington, Nov. 14 (AP)—The Navy opened the way today for young men training as officer candidates in the V-12 program to transfer to general service and qualify for veterans' benefits.

Trainees in the V-12 program are denied educational benefits of the "G. I. bill of rights" and mustering out pay. Under the new plan they may qualify for both by serving 90 days of general enlisted duty.

Flat Rock Boy, 16,
Is Dead In First
Deer Gun Tragedy

John King, 16 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward King of Flat Rock, was killed at about 8:30 o'clock Wednesday night in what was apparently a pre-season deer headlighting mishap. The incident is being investigated by officers of the Delta county sheriff's department, state police and Prosecutor T. E. Strom. One man was in custody this morning.

Young King, according to statements made to officers, was with a group of five other boys of the Flat Rock community who were attempting to show two Lower Peninsula hunters what deer looked like under the lights. They told officers they had no guns or ammunition in the car. Their auto became mired in a field and while they were attempting to free it a second car drove into the field, the lights were flashed on the group of boys and a shot was fired. When one of the lads shouted that someone had been hit, the second auto was driven away quickly.

In the party of youths were two brothers of the gunshot victim, O'Neill King, 14; Wm. King, 18; three other Flat Rock boys, Robert Reno, 17; Donald King, 17 and Francis King, 14. Ronald Muirhead, 20, of near Birmingham, Mich., and Floyd Geistler, 20, of Farmington, Mich., completed the party. They gathered at the Edward King home and after looking for deer in the King fields without success moved on to a field on the Lawrence Chenier farm about a half mile north of the Holy Family church.

After circling in the field their auto became mired. Geistler, who was driving, remained at the wheel, with the auto lights off, while the others attempted to push the machine. It was while they were working on the car that the second car drove into the field. John King stood up so that the lights of the approaching car flashed on his face, across the hood of the Geistler auto. The boys heard a shot and John was hit. Geistler jumped out and shouted "Hold your fire, you've hit someone." Then the second car drove hurriedly out of the field.

The surviving young men in the group made statements to Prosecutor T. E. Strom last night, and the prosecutor said that one man was in custody, although he declined to name him or state whether a charge would be placed against him.

Government Buildings At
Tel Aviv Set Afire
By Demonstrators

BY GEORGE PALMER
Jerusalem, Nov. 14 (AP)—Jewish crowds set fire to government buildings and stoned police at Tel Aviv, and advances tonight declared British troops had fired on the rioters.

The reports of shootings could not be confirmed immediately. (Reuters said eight persons were wounded when the troops opened fire.)

The street fighting at Tel Aviv broke out during a 12-hour general strike called in protest against new British proposals to settle the Palestine problem, and more than 30 persons were reported injured. Twelve persons were hurt when youths stoned buses and taxis in Jerusalem.

Reports from Tel Aviv said troops of the Sixth airborne division fired at the legs of demonstrators after giving orders to "disperse immediately or we open fire."

A surging crowd of youths set fire to the British district office, breaking windows to hurl torches inside, the advances said, and also attacked the income tax office. Two Jewish police officers were reported hurt by flying stones.

The troops were said to have erected huge posters, in the English, Arabic and Hebrew languages, ordering demonstrators to go home or be shot. Searchlights were directed on the posters, and the crowds dispersed by 10 p. m.

Production Stoppage At Detroit Plant May
Affect 20,000

Detroit, Nov. 14 (AP)—In the midst of the automobile industry's wages and reconversion problems General Motors' production of Buick automobiles came to a halt today because of a parts shortage from an Ohio feeder plant.

Approximately 5,000 workers were laid off with the closing of assembly lines in the Buick and Fisher body plants in Flint, and a company statement said 20,000 might be affected if Buick production were not resumed.

The shutdowns, caused by lack of chassis frames from the Midland Steel Company of Cleveland, came as General Motors announced a wage increase for its salaried employees and prepared to resume negotiations over union wage boost demands for hourly paid workers.

A 10 per cent increase on the first $500 of monthly salaries was announced by General Motors for its 70,000 salaried employees. Tomorrow, General Motors and Chrysler Corp. resume their separate negotiations with the CIO United Automobile Workers over the union's demand for a 30 per cent wage boost.

The halt to Buick production, which had reached 225 cars a day, was given various explanations.

General Motors said it was due to a "work stoppage" at the Cleveland plant.

Fishermen Report

Lansing, Nov. 14 (AP)—Smelt may be coming back strongly into Michigan waters of the Great Lakes, reports from commercial fishermen to the state conservation department have indicated. The department reported that one commercial fisherman had shipped 1,500 pounds of smelt one day last week and several other commercial fishermen had recently reported daily shipments of several hundred pounds of the fish.

PRICE RACKET
IN ARTIFICIAL
LIMBS BAREDANTI-TRUST LAW VIOLATION IS ALLEGED

Washington, Nov. 14 (AP)—Forty-five corporations, 34 individuals and a trade association were charged today with violating the anti-trust laws in the manufacture, sale and fitting of artificial limbs for amputees, including war veterans.

The justice department announced that the indictment, returned by a District of Columbia grand jury, charged the group with conspiring to fix unreasonable and non-competitive prices throughout the United States.

Attorney General Tom C. Clark said in a statement that one effect of the alleged conspiracy was to "deprive the United States Veterans Administration of the opportunity to make artificial limbs for veterans."

Assistant Attorney General Wendell Berge added in another statement that about 900,000 Americans wear artificial limbs and that many of these are war veterans. In peacetime about 25,000 amputations are made annually, Berge said.

Improvement Impeded
The indictment asserted that artificial limb sales total about $10,000,000 annually, that about 75 per cent of the total volume of such business was done by the manufacturers named as defendants, and that about 90 per cent of the business was done by 10 supply dealers named.

Clark said the effect of the alleged conspiracy was to:

Force the Veterans Administration, various state agencies and war veterans buying limbs direct from manufacturers to pay non-competitive prices.

Prevent various charitable institutions from making artificial limbs for indigent amputees free of charge.

Impede the improvement of artificial limbs.

Clark said the latter effect was brought about "by lack of price competition as an incentive to make a better product, and by refusal to permit the entry into the industry of artisans capable of improving quality and comfort through the device of refusing them parts."

Young Krupp May Be Defendant In War Crimes Trial

BY DANIEL DE LUCE
Nuernberg, Germany, Nov. 14 (AP)—The American, French, and Russian prosecutors today asked the International War Crimes Tribunal to substitute Alfred Krupp for his ailing father as a defendant, and to delay the trial of top-flight Nazis for twelve days until Dec. 2.

Countering, the Krupp family attorney demanded that the indictment against "an old, dying man" be dismissed and that none be issued against his son.

The court deliberated for four hours, without announcing its decision, but it will hold another session tomorrow to hear Julius Streicher's appeal for three or four more weeks of time, and may announce all decisions shortly thereafter.

The substitution and delay proposals were made by U. S. Prosecutor Robert H. Jackson, supported by the French and Russian prosecutors.

Newsprint Rations
May End By Dec. 31

Washington, Nov. 14 (AP)—A House interstate commerce subcommittee decided today to take another look at the newsprint situation, with indications it will renew its recommendation that newsprint rationing stop December 31.

Chairman Boren (D-Okla.) reiterated his own demands that paper quotas cease at the year end, and Rep. Wolverton (R-N.J.), committee member, said "rationing of newsprint should cease immediately, if we are to have a free press."

Tough Problems Arise
At Labor Conference

BY STERLING F. GREEN

Washington, Nov. 14 (AP)—Despite progress toward solving union jurisdictional strife, the labor-management conference was officially reported tonight to be "just coming up against the tough problems."

Secretary George W. Taylor gave that estimate, saying he apparently would have to change his forecast that the session would finish in two or three weeks.

Taylor said none of the committees, to his knowledge, had yet tackled the important question of recommending mediation, fact finding, or voluntarily arbitration machinery when ordinary collective bargaining breaks down. This was a goal specified by President Truman.

The committee on existing collective agreements, charged with finding workable machinery for settling grievances arising under contracts, negotiations of succeeding contracts, and no-strike and no-lockout clauses, was reported to be near the end of its work.

There was some disagreement with Taylor's generally pessimistic report on progress. Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach said he believed the delegates "were making definite progress."

On the other hand, CIO President Philip Murray, asked whether today's meeting of the key executive committee had accomplished anything, replied "no."

Ira Mosher, president of the National Association of Manufacturers, indicated the executive body was not wholly satisfied with the parley's progress in grappling with specific labor relations problems.

Edward G. Wilms, chairman of the independent unions of New Jersey, declared that unless millions of workers in independent unions are granted representation on the National Labor Relations Board—as well as a place at the labor-management conference table—there could not be "peace with justice on the homefront."

Chief Of OPA Refuses To Back Down On New Car Ceilings

BY FRANCIS M. LE MAY
Washington, Nov. 14 (AP)—Demands that OPA Chief Chester Bowles be "bowed out" rang in the House chamber today in an uprising against his price policy on new automobiles.

One member offered a bill proposing to strip Bowles of price controls and to distribute the pricing authority to other government agencies.

Bowles, meanwhile, showed no sign of retreating from his position that retail car dealers must absorb part or all the price increases granted manufacturers, with the purpose of holding new car retail prices at or near 1942 levels.

Planning to announce the first new car prices, perhaps late tomorrow, he contended the dealers, even with a reduced margin between manufacturers' prices and retail price, still will make more than prewar profits—because they won't have pre-war losses on used car trade-ins.

Only a handful of House members joined in the noisy protests on the floor, but 100 senators and representatives filed statements with the House small business committee relaying the complaints of auto dealers throughout the country that OPA's cost absorption plan destroys the normal price relationship between manufacturer and dealer and would force many dealers out of business.

Advice Of Gen. Ike
Asked On European Relief Appropriation

Washington, Nov. 14 (AP)—Congress turned to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower today for advice on a new $1,350,000,000 UNRRA appropriation request.

The house foreign affairs committee opened hearings on the legislation, became embroiled in an argument over the administration of UNRRA, and decided to ask the general just how badly Europe needs help.

The invitation was extended by Chairman Bloom (D-N.Y.), who said Eisenhower probably could testify Friday. He will be a witness tomorrow at military committee hearings on peacetime training.

MEETING ENDS
FOR LEADERS
OF 3 NATIONSCONGRESS IS ASKED TO CLEAR WAY FOR WORLD SECURITY

Washington, Nov. 14 (AP)—The war department called today for quick creation of domestic controls over atomic energy, as American, British and Canadian leaders neared the end of their conference on international controls.

Secretary of War Patterson told a news conference that domestic legislation should be adopted promptly to clear the way for international action.

The war department's idea of legislation, he said, contemplates that a nine-man commission would control all atomic energy activities, including the construction of atomic bombs.

Report Expected Friday
President Truman, Prime Minister Attlee of Britain and Prime Minister Mackenzie King of Canada met again at the White House. Allied diplomats speculated that if the leaders agree on any plan for control of atomic force through the United Nations, the plan would be immediately communicated to Generalissimo Stalin of Russia, and possibly to leaders of France and China as well. Those countries, with Britain and the United States, would have primary responsibility for carrying it out as permanent members of the United Nations Security Council.

Beyond this it was considered likely by persons close to all that the conferees that a communique would be issued on Friday disclosing at least broad objectives and principles even though the exact provisions of any plan agreed upon might be kept secret pending their discussion with other governments.

There is some talk around town of a meeting of Truman and Attlee with Stalin. British officials are known to feel that such a gathering would serve a useful purpose at this juncture if it cleared the air of mutual uncertainties and suspicions, but there is no evidence that plans for a meeting have been made or even proposed.

Veto Power Again
Asked By Russia
In Japan's Control

Washington, Nov. 14 (AP)—Russia once more is demanding a veto power in the proposed control council for Japan. Secretary of State Byrnes disclosed today.

The U. S. advocates a council on which Russia and the other Allies would be represented, but in which Gen. MacArthur, as supreme commander, would have a decisive say in case of disagreements. Several weeks ago Byrnes reported that Moscow apparently agreed to this plan.

But now, Byrnes told his press conference, the Russians have v-c-ed back to their original demand. This was for a council like the one which governs Germany in which all members must agree upon a course of action before it may be adopted and in which any one member alone could veto a proposed action.

New Premier Attempting To Restore Order
Throughout Java

BY LEIF ERICKSON
Batavia, Java, Nov. 14 (AP)—Determined Indonesian troops, using artillery and frequently counter-attacking, clung firmly to fortified positions along the east-west railway in Soerabaja today and limited British Indian forces to scant gains in the fifth day of bloody fighting.

The British continued bombing some key Indonesian positions, but declared they were using "only minimum force" against the Indonesians, entrenched in concrete pillboxes and air raid shelters built before the war.

An official statement said the British command was giving every opportunity to the "extremists to stop the useless bloodshed of their own people" and added that the British "still hoped" to occupy the big Java naval base without repeating last Saturday's heavy sea and air bombardment.

Meanwhile, in Batavia the new 36-year-old premier of the unrecognized Indonesian republic, Sultan Sjahrir, was assembling his cabinet to try to stop the fighting in Soerabaja and restore order throughout Java.

Action was delayed pending the arrival of two cabinet members from troubled East Java. Sjahrir already has indicated he would fly to Soerabaja to seek peace.

TRIKE IN IRON MINES IS SEEN

land Steel Official Says Union Has Not Asked For Raise

Ishpeming—The Inland Steel Co., through Clarence B. Randall, vice-president, today stated it is clear the union intends to close on mines by strike and announce that steps will be taken "for an orderly and indefinite shutdown as soon as the men go out."

Mr. Randall emphasized that a strike vote is being taken in the iron mines without any demands or wage increase having been made upon the mines, and that the company is being placed in the extraordinary position of being asked by government to assist in strike vote before the issue has been defined.

His statement, released late this afternoon, follows:

"It is clear that the international officers of the Steel Workers union have decided there will be a strike at the iron ore mines."

"Strangely enough, there is no dispute."

Wage Demand Not Presented

"The so-called $2-a-day demand has never been presented to Inland Steel Co. at its iron mines. There has been no collective bargaining whatever about an increase in wages, and yet a strike vote is to be taken."

"It is an extraordinary situation when management is asked by government to assist in taking a strike vote before we know what the dispute is."

"One point is clear, however, and that is that the union intends to close the iron mines by strike."

"Our company is therefore faced with the obvious necessity of taking promptly all steps required for an orderly and indefinite shutdown as soon as the men go out. The strike will come at a time when our stock piles of ore at our steel plants are high. The loss, therefore, will fall solely on our employees."

Vote Set For Nov. 28

Announcement was made several days ago that the National Labor Relations Board had accepted the petition of the Steel Workers union for a strike vote, the date set at Wednesday, Nov. 28.

Iron mining companies on the Marquette range have received official notice from the NLRB of the petition and have been requested to submit payroll rosters, which is the first step in the preparation for a strike vote. As nearly as can be determined the $2-a-day wage increase demand has been made on only two companies in the Lake Superior district, the North Range Mining Co. and the Oliver Iron Mining Co., the latter through its position of being a subsidiary of United States Steel.

Of the first 2,000,000 men examined under Selective Service, 41,000 were rejected because of ear defects.

Strip From Corregidor Flag Cherished Through 3 Years In Jap Prisons

BY RUTH COWAN

Washington, Nov. 14 (AP)—It was only a small piece of red cloth, not larger than two by three inches, but it was handled reverently today by Secretary of War Patterson when he received it from Col. Delbert Ausmus, coast artilleryman. It was, as best anyone knows, the only existing fragment of the American flag that was lowered at Corregidor.

Its story was told, simply but sometimes haltingly, by the gray-haired colonel from Schenectady, N. Y., who had been entrusted with it by a dying fellow officer. Ausmus had hidden it in a false shirt cuff for three years in a Japanese prison.

Ausmus, somewhat shy and still recuperating from his prison experiences, told a news conference:

"When that American flag came down at noon on May 6, 1942, I saw men cry—even hard-boiled marines. I guess I cried some myself."

For a moment he paused, choked up.

He related that he was taken to Bilid prison in Manila and came down with pneumonia. While he was in the hospital Col. Paul D. Bunker of Taunton, Mass., was brought in suffering from seriously infected blisters on his feet and blood poisoning in one leg.

On June 10 Bunker, watching carefully to see that there were no Japs near, swore him to secrecy, Ausmus continued, and "said he wanted to turn something over to me to deliver to the secretary of war."

From beneath a false patch set into the left pocket of his shirt Bunker took a bit of red cloth. Solemnly he gave Ausmus part of it and put the rest back.

"On the morning of the day Corregidor was to surrender Col. Bunker had been ordered to take down the American flag and burn it and put up the white flag of surrender," Ausmus related. At noon Bunker and two other officers, Lt. Col. Norman B. Symonds of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Lt. Col. Dwight Edison of Hollywood, Calif., both now dead, carried out the orders. The white flag was a piece of sheeting.

Bunker reported that before he burned the colors he had cut off a small piece and that he was determined to get it back to the secretary of war. Ausmus promised to carry out the mission. Bunker died in March, 1943, at Karioko, Taiwan.

"I saw him laid out," said Ausmus, "and he had on that shirt in which there was a false patch in which he had hidden this fragment."

Bunker had asked that his body be cremated, and this was done and his ashes buried.

"I believe the piece of flag he carried was cremated with him," said Ausmus.

When the small bit of red cloth was entrusted to him, Ausmus cut off some material from his pants and sewed bands to his shirt cuffs as though he were mending worn edges. Underneath the band on his right sleeve he tucked the fragment. Ausmus had only two shirts. The one with his precious remnant was often left carelessly lying around so as not to attract suspicion.

At this point in his narrative Ausmus picked up a black brief case.

"I have to apologize for this dirty shirt," he said as he took it out.

From the false cuff he brought out the carefully folded bit of red cloth and held it up. Then he handed it to the secretary.

"I think this should be preserved under glass," said Patterson, "and kept where the American people may see it."

Warnings Issued Against Rackets Now Flourishing

By JEAN GEORGE
NEA Staff Correspondent

New York—The American people had just better stay in bed or they will be swindled out of their bones, according to some valuable information in a booklet on "schemes" published by the Better Business Bureau.

Nothing is safe any more. There are "death vultures and crystal gazers," on every street corner these days, and they'll twist your arm every time you put it out to buy a paper.

This terrifying little booklet warns the public against everything: Electric light bulbs, whiskey, suits, radios, second hand hats and grass seed.

No Charms

"Beware of people who sell lucky charms," the BBB book warns. "Stones have no power to bring riches, health and happiness."

"Thousands have been stung by the grass seed salesman who promises that his grass will grow no higher than three inches," the Bureau says. Some people feel repaid if it just grows, but when it shoots up four or five inches, the BBB becomes concerned.

"Give wisely to beggars," the Bureau warns, "the professional beggar may secretly have a private chauffeur and a de luxe car."

One of the nastiest tricksters of the trade is the stocking salesman who takes orders and runs off with your money. Watch out for him.

But let the flower sales gyp happen to no living man. "If a salesman of Chinese horned nuts represents that they will bloom into flowers when placed in water, examine his display. It may be faked by fixing a primrose in the nut with wax."

Roosevelt Stamp Collection Will Be Auctioned Off

New York, Nov. 14 (AP)—The personal stamp collection of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt will be delivered from Hyde Park, N. Y., to E. R. Harmer, Inc., international stamp auctioneers, tomorrow to be sold at public auction, the firm said today.

Bernard Harmer, head of the auction company, said no plans had been made for exhibiting the collection and no date had been set for the public sale.

The collection, whose value was not estimated, consists of 150 albums collected by the late chief executive during his lifetime and contains notes in his handwriting.

Only one side to our railroad tracks

Folks who are better off in our town live on the west side of the railroad tracks. We've got a lake there, and the local park, and some real nice land.

There used to be a phrase "from the wrong side of the tracks." It meant what you think . . . but you don't hear it any more. Not since Charlie Jenkins came home with the Purple Heart, and Willie Wells got the Silver Star. There isn't any "wrong side" of the railroad tracks now!

And that change is going on all over America . . . where our

STREETS WILL BE DECORATED

Shopping District To Be Trimmed Up For Yule Season

Escanaba's shopping district will dress up in its holiday finery for the first peace-time Christmas season in four years beginning next Monday when city crews start work on the project to brighten the downtown district for the Yule season.

Hugo Lillquist, head of the city electrical department, said that the work will be completed in about four days.

More elaborate than in former years, this season's lighting will extend from the Ludington hotel to Third Avenue north on Stephenson avenue. The Chamber of Commerce is cooperating with the city in sponsoring the Yule lighting this year.

Must Follow Law On Bang's Disease

A new law listed as Public Act No. 290 of the regular session of 1945 is important to farmers and especially to livestock buyers who buy and sell cattle, according to Charles Figy, commissioner of agriculture.

The act provides that all cattle over 12 months of age that are sold or moved to associate with cattle of another herd must be accompanied with a certificate of record issued by the commissioner of agriculture, showing the animal to be negative to a Bang's disease test within 30 days or that the cattle originated from a herd which was tested and the entire herd negative within 90 days prior to such sale or movement.

The act does not apply to steers or cattle being moved for immediate slaughter.

Vaccinated cattle over 12 months of age must have the same certificate unless they were vaccinated under federal-state supervision between the ages of four and eight months and were negative to test prior to vaccination and properly recorded with the department of agriculture.

Safety Is Watchword At Opening Of Deer Season

With an unprecedented number of hunters in the woods at the opening of the deer season this morning, the need for safety has become a watchword among those who think before they shoot.

The excitement of the season, the presence in the woods of many men who have not hunted in recent years or have never hunted before, and the very numbers of the hunters combine to make conditions which may result in more accidents unless safety and common sense are used generously, say conservation officers and the more conservative among the hunters themselves.

Fifteen persons were killed during the hunting season last year. One of the fatalities was in Delta county.

Careful hunters have pointed out that if the man who places his rifle to his shoulder were sure that he was aiming at game, there would be practically no hunting accidents. It is the excited, over-anxious hunter who may draw and fire at the glimpse of a moving body.

Law enforcement and conservation officers who have had to investigate many deer hunting accidents have come to the conclusion that most accidents are the result of "pure carelessness."

To be on the safe side, hunters should wear clothing with plenty of bright red color in it. Red scarves or handkerchiefs, red caps and mackinaws help in preventing him from becoming a deer season "casualty". By the same token, hunters should avoid wearing anything white. It looks too much like the flash of a deer's "flag".

Ten commandments of safety have been devised, not only by conservationists, but by sporting arms and ammunition manufacturers as well. Here they are:

1. Treat every gun with the respect due a loaded gun. This is the cardinal rule of safety.
2. Carry only empty guns, taken down or with the action open, into your automobile, camp, or home.
3. Always be sure that the barrel and action are clear of obstructions.

4. Always carry your gun so that you can control the direction of the muzzle, even if you stumble.

5. Be sure of your target before you pull the trigger.

6. Never point a gun at anything you do not want to shoot.

7. Never leave your gun unattended unless you unload it first.

8. Never climb a tree or a fence with loaded gun.

9. Never shoot at a flat, hard surface, or the surface of water.

10. Do not mix gunpowder and alcohol.

structions.

Japan and Co-Prosperity

WHEN the Japs were hell-bent on conquest through China, the Philippines, the East Indies and Malaya, they prated about Asia for the Asiatics and a co-prosperity sphere under which the Asiatics were to live on milk and honey, under the Nipponese leadership, of course.
Some of the natives of lands overrun by the Japanese were fooled by Japan's propaganda. The Japanese military organization did not practice what Japanese statesmen were preaching about Asiatic co-prosperity. The soldiers ran rampant through the occupied territories, looting, raping, plundering, murdering in the wildest orgy of debauchery. This was true not only in China and the Philippines, where the natives were openly sympathetic to Japan's enemy, but it was true also in Burma, Indo-China the Indies and other Jap-occupied lands.

The stories of Japanese treachery are well known to the world. The Japanese defeat finally took the Nipponese heel off the necks of the oppressed natives of the overrun lands.
The Jap influence in Asia has been destroyed by Gen. MacArthur's directives which are designed to reduce Japan to impotency. The hostile attitude of Japan's neighbors will serve as an effective barrier against the Nipponese ever arising again to spread its venom through the Far East.

The population of the Far East has reason to be thankful of liberation as a result of the armed might of the United States. These people undoubtedly will look to America with appreciation for many years to come.

Old Landmark Razed

ANOTHER of the city's old landmarks, located on North Seventh street, is being razed by the city of Escanaba to make room for expansion of the central steam heating utility.

To old-timers the building probably aroused pleasant memories of delightful pioneer days in Escanaba, but that is all. So many old landmarks are unsightly, fire-traps, and it would be much better if they were wrecked, even though no new structures were erected in their place.

Throughout the country, cities are making plans for slum clearance to create more attractive communities. Acquisition and tearing down of unsightly buildings have been going on for some time in Escanaba under a wise policy adopted by the city council, and the program should continue.

Let's continue to make Escanaba the city beautiful, for eventually it will pay dividends. People like to locate in an attractive community. Vacationists are also attracted to it. Clean up and paint up campaigns, improvements to parks and beaches, clean, well-shaded streets, neat alleys and other projects should occupy prominent positions on the postwar development program of the City of Escanaba and the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce.

Censorship Eased

SOVIET censorship of news being sent from Russia has become just a mere formality, according to the Associated Press, and now American and British correspondents are able to present a clearer picture of what is going on within that country.

The change in policy apparently came as a result of a protest filed against the rigid censorship restrictions by the foreign correspondents stationed in Moscow. It was pointed out that Russian newspaper correspondents, working in Washington, D. C., are permitted to write the news as they see it in the United States.

This is as it should be. In recent years, the appeal has been for Americans to try to understand the Russians, without much consideration given to the idea that it is also the responsibility of Russia and her people to try to win our good will. Russia has maintained a policy of secrecy for a long time about its military and economic affairs, but the Moscow government lost no time in demanding that she be let in on the atomic bomb secret.

Understanding between any two nations cannot be reached by a one-way street.

Advertising Planned

THE American vacationing public will be decidedly Michigan-conscious after it reads the advertisements in national magazines and metropolitan newspapers in the future.

The Michigan Tourist Council has announced that $150,000 will be expended for tourist advertising during the 18 months following Jan. 1. Four-color advertisements will be used in the well-known national magazines as has been done by Florida, California, New England and other popular vacation regions.

Michigan has good fishing, hunting, scenery, climate, bathing and historic spots in abundance. It has as much to offer the vacationist as any of the other regions, but unfortunately there are still many Americans who are not aware of this fact. An extensive advertising, such as that contemplated by the Michigan Tourist Council, should go a long way toward taking care of this situation.

Another Hitler Error

IT HAS been noted already that Hitler might have had the atom bomb himself if his persecution of the Jews hadn't driven the eminent physicist Lise Meitner from Germany and permitted her to make her pioneering work available to the Allies. Now it develops that the eight Nazi saboteurs who landed here in 1942 might have got in a lot of damaging dirty work if one of them, angered by the Gestapo's brutal treatment of his wife, hadn't turned informer.

Crime, as the man on the radio keeps telling us, doesn't pay. And fortunately for the world, Hitler apparently didn't listen to American broadcasts.

Who'll Do K. P.?

WAR Secretary Patterson put forth a persuasive plea for universal military training the other day when he disclosed the strange plight of our peacetime Army. It seems that, with the way things are shaping up at present, it's going to be an Army of sergeants and officers. The privates just aren't re-enlisting.

It seems doubtful that even in the age of the atomic bomb, mechanization and intense specialization, an army can be run without the humble foot soldier. For one thing, who's going to peel the spuds and police the camp and do all the other jobs that a noncom wouldn't lay hand to? It's a dilemma, even in peacetime.

Obviously, Mr. Wallace's era of the common man hasn't yet arrived in military circles. And obviously something will have to be done about it.

CCC RETURN?

(Sault Ste. Marie News)

It is altogether possible that the CCC (Civilian Conservation Corps) program born in depression days may return as a College of Conservation.

The CCC was perhaps the finest of all Rooseveltian alphabetical agencies. It did great work in northern forests where the work was needed. In effect the boys who attended CCCs were attending conservation colleges. They worked in forests; they learned and earned.

No doubt there are thousands of returning veterans who would be delighted with a chance to attend such a College of Conservation where they could learn and earn, and the work of conservation in our northern forests is far from done. It will never be done.

Then, too, conservation and forestry are part of another industry, a greater industry, the resort industry.

Why not expand the curriculum of the suggested College of Conservation to include subjects having to do with resort keeping, tourist handling, cottage making, road building, stream improvement, game management, waterfront development, fishing, hunting, woodcraft, winter sports, summer sports and many others.

With Fort Brady as headquarters and now-abandoned CCC camps as field classrooms, the Northern Peninsula and Michigan would have the distinction of being leaders in this field, just as Michigan has been leader in highways and conservation.

The idea has tremendous possibilities. Gov. Harry F. Kelly is interested and so is the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau. We should all be. As a resort center it means much to us. It would save Fort Brady and assure a continuing program of preservation for our natural resources—woods, waters and wildlife.

COME, COME, MR. BOWLES

(Wall Street Journal)

The other day President Truman proposed raising governmental salaries. Congressmen's salaries would be hiked from ten to twenty thousand a year and there would be a general increase of 20 per cent to federal employees.

Congressmen should have higher salaries. So should government officials and employees in the higher levels. Whether clerks and stenographers of the government are not already comparatively well paid is something that can be easily determined.

But what puzzles us about this whole matter is the curious silence of Chester Bowles, head of O.P.A. and the Paul Revere of inflation. Time and again Mr. Bowles has insisted that people can raise wages without raising prices. One would think he would have some way for the government to raise its costs without raising taxes. He has said nothing. Is there not some place some middle man who can be made to absorb this increase? Or do two plus two still make four; have we gone back to that archaic age?

It is several days since this price increase has been proposed. Night after night we have listened for hoof beats. The stentorian call of "hold the line" has failed to resound upon the frosty air. Where is Mr. Bowles? Have horses been rationed, or horseshoes? Or is Mr. Bowles at home catching up on his home work in arithmetic?

Bars of music are printed on some of the new fashionable wall paper. Just a scheme, probably, to bring out the louder tones.

This is the season for cider and doughnuts. Let us all give dunks!

Washington—The relief and rehabilitation of Europe by the only organization that can do the job—UNRRA—is being slowed down through the failure of congress to appropriate funds already authorized.

This is gambling with the future of western civilization. It is gambling that Europeans will be able to resist cold and hunger for another winter. It is gambling that Europe will not lapse into anarchy or totalitarianism.

Altogether, it is the most shocking example of the dilatory indifference will which our lawmakers seem to face the crisis of our time.

The United States owes UNRRA, an international organization, $550,000,000 which UNRRA had counted on for use in the early winter. The house took an unconscionable time over appropriating the money—the authorization had been approved once by both Senate and House. Now, by slow motion, it is proceeding through the senate appropriations committee.

For lack of funds, UNRRA has cancelled $500,000,000 in rehabilitation supplies that had already been arranged for through the treasury. The money left in UNRRA's cash drawer is needed for food to keep human beings alive.

Included in the $500,000,000 of cancelled purchases were supplies and industrial equipment intended to help make Europe a going concern again, as well as clothing and medical supplies. One of the chief aims of UNRRA is to get Europe off the dole as quickly as possible.

But that cannot be done while the subsistence line is so close to actual starvation. In the most fortunate areas in Europe, the dietary level is not much more than half what it should be to maintain minimum health.

Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson announced the other day that foreign food allocations would be increased by 50 per cent. That was welcome news.

It is good news, especially, for the countries in Europe that are now on a paying basis. France, Belgium, Holland and Norway are buying food and supplies to a total of about 700,000 tons a month.

The countries dependent on UNRRA—Italy, Greece, Albania, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia—are the ones now being pinched by the lack of funds. Poland would probably be at the bottom of the list, but Italy's plight is almost as serious.

Thanks to the U. S. Army, it has been possible to get Italy through the fall and early winter. Just before the end of lend-lease, the army turned over $150,000,000 in lend-lease supplies for Italian relief.

This source will be exhausted by the first of the year. Moreover, it will not be possible to help Italy out of the $550,000,000, when it is appropriated, because that amount has already been committed elsewhere. Italian relief must wait an authorization and appropriation of $1,300,000,000, which is the second installment to come due to UNRRA.

Figures have so little power to convey the hunger that gnaws at Italian bellies. The average consumption of fats and oils in Italy is 4.8 pounds a person a month. That compares with 44 pounds a month in this country. With the worst drought in 20 years, even the grain crop is down.

What makes the contrast more startling is that UNRRA is getting no fats or oils for either November or December. At the same time, quotas for industrial users in this country have been put back to within eight per cent of the level of 1941, which was a year of high prosperity and high consumption.

The house, in approving the $550,000,000 appropriation, added certain amendments. One provided that American press representatives should have free access, without countries in which UNRRA is distributing relief, to information about how relief is being used.

While that may be a desirable objective, there is danger that it might cause further delay for making formal press agreements with some of the countries. UNRRA is fearful that that would be the result. We have already had too many delays. Hunger will not wait forever.

sion, are reporters, and not dictators, of good usage. That being the case, how may one explain such inaccurate reporting as in giving the "correct" American pronunciation of "chiffon" as "SHIF-un"?

I doubt if any American (even the profound dictionary makers themselves) has used the pronunciation "SHIF-un". If so, I wasn't around to hear it, and I have been traveling this country for more than half a lifetime listening to the way people talk.

As everyone knows, the universal American pronunciation of the French loanword chiffon is shi-FON, the second syllable receiving the accent and rhyming with "con, don."

But here is the box-score of seven popular dictionaries which list the American pronunciation thus (the phonetic spelling is mine):

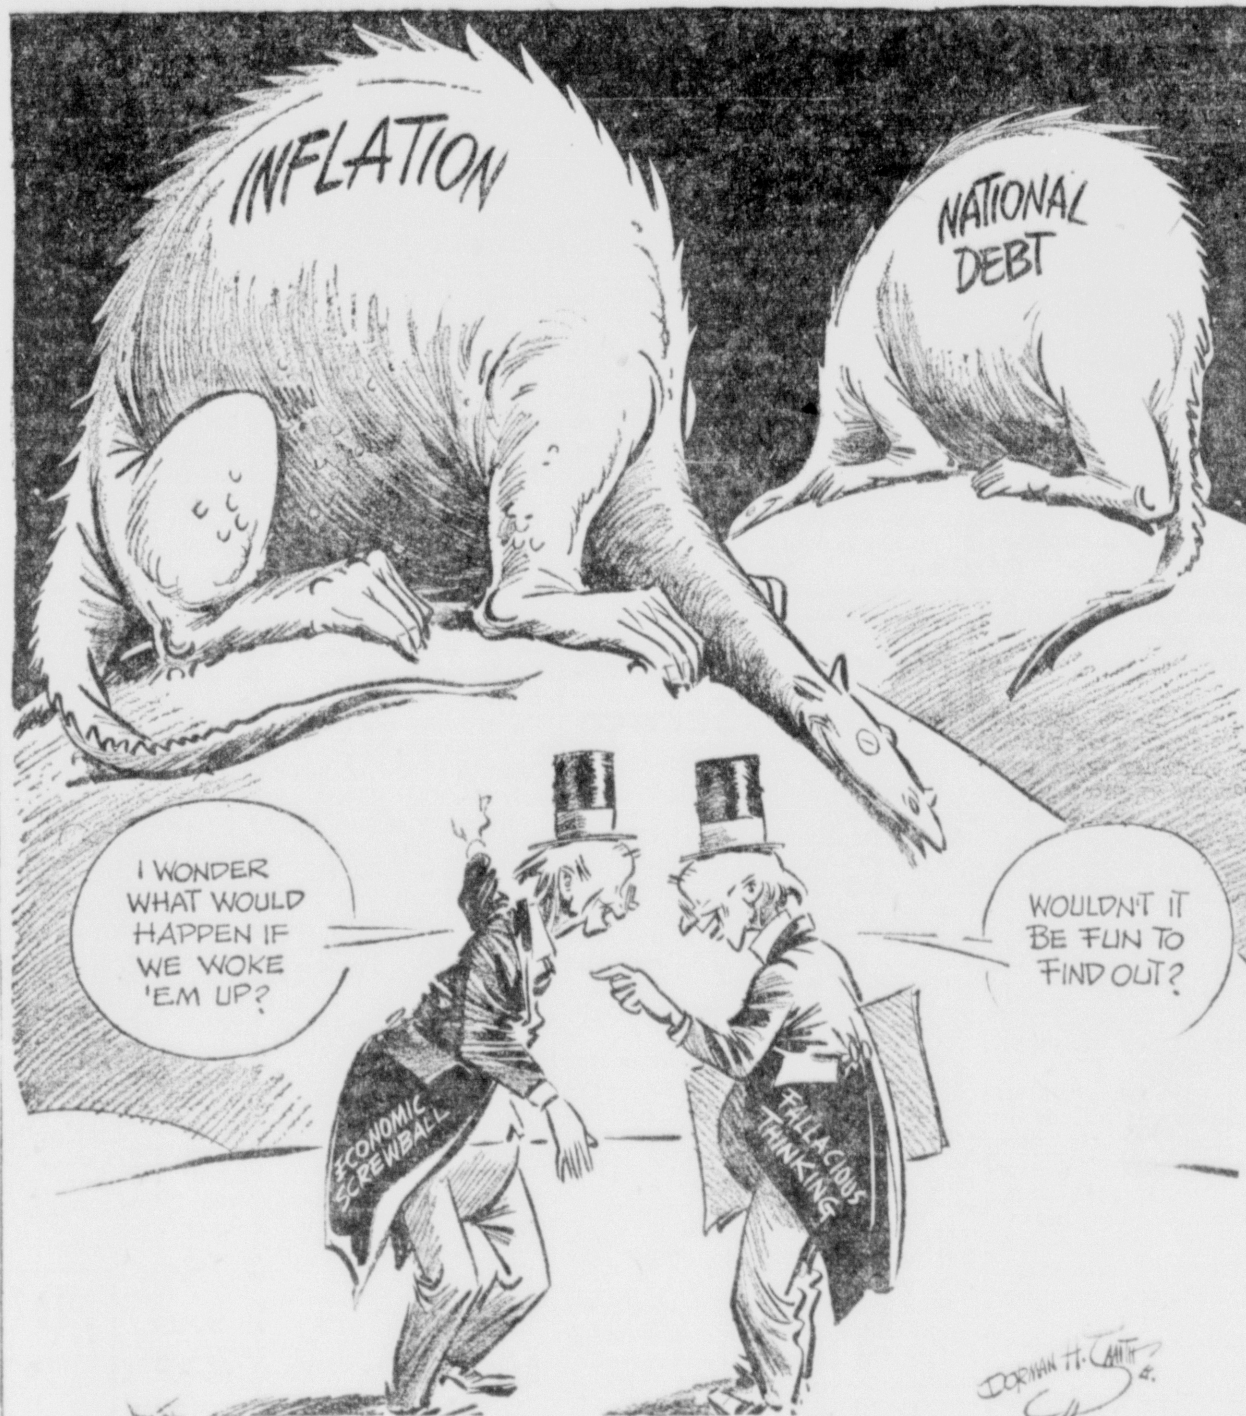

"SHIF-un" is the first choice of Merriam-Webster's, the only choice of Funk and Wagnalls, New Century, Macmillan's, and Winston's, and the second choice of Thorndyke Century, and Kenyon and Knott.

How "SHIF-un" got into any one of the modern dictionaries is a complete mystery. How it managed to dominate all seven is so baffling as to be incredible.

And if "SHIF-un" were heard, and of course it is not, the standard pronunciation, "shi-FON", would still be the better, for it is far closer to the original French "shee-FAWN". (The Colby symbol (N) indicates the characteristic French nasal sound.)

I fear we must place "SHIF-un" on the shelf with that other dictionary curiosity, "ree-VAIL-yi" for "reveille."

NEW APPRECIATION — Muri Deusing of the Milwaukee Public Museum, lecturer, photographer and student of nature, Monday night presented a free program in Escanaba under sponsorship of the Girl Scouts of Delta county.

The film and the explanatory talk by Deusing brought to his young audience a new appreciation of the marvels of nature, yet it left some of the girls cold with shivers. It appears that all too many of our youngsters have "ugly" insects, snakes been taught that the reaction of some of the audience, the Girl Scouts are to be commended for bringing the program here. The world we live in can be beautiful and interesting only as we grow to understand it. We admire the beautiful butterfly and should be taught that it arrives at beauty only through transition. The birth of snakes, of bees and birds as pictured by Deusing is a beneficial foundation on which to teach what has been somewhat coyly referred to as "the facts of life."

It was interesting to hear the comments of some of the girls following the program. "Isn't nature ugly? I hate nature!" one girl said. "I like it," her companion said stoutly, and then clinched the argument with the comment, "besides, if it wasn't for nature, none of us would be here."

BITTERSWEET AND HOLLY — While we're on the subject of nature, this might be the time to direct attention to state laws protecting some of our fast-disappearing vines, trees and shrubs.

It is at this season of the year that residents of Northern Michigan on their Sunday drives in the country pick bittersweet and Michigan holly. Bittersweet, of course, is a climbing vine whose orange seed pods open when dry to reveal the scarlet interior and are often picked for winter bouquets. Michigan holly is a shrub growing in the lowlands whose branches carry small red berries at this season of the year, and are often picked as decorations for the holiday season.

The Michigan law does not prohibit the picking of these and certain other plants, but it does require that you obtain the written consent of the owner of the property on which they are taken. Included among the plants so protected are:

Trailing arbutus, bird's foot violet, climbing bittersweet, club mosses, flowering dogwood, Michigan holly, North American lotus, pipsissewa, orchids, trilliums and gentians.

ON INDIAN SUMMER—From a reader in Minneapolis comes a clipping from a newspaper there that throws further light on the question of Indian Summer. It is reported there that one George Allison, purportedly an Indian (sounds Scandinavian from this corner), that Indian Summer does not occur "until after the first hard frosts about the time of the first full moon in November." Here we have had the hard frosts, and the November full moon is the 19th, so perhaps we can look forward to Mr. Allison's Indian Summer even yet.

invading Michigan, the conservation department reports. Bringing the news closer home, one of these big owls was killed a couple weeks ago by Herb Westlund of Rock, and is now being mounted by a Marquette taxidermist. The owl was a place of honor on the back bar at Herb's tavern.

The owl created a bit of excitement at Rock the day it was killed. It flew into the town and perched on a building roof in midday. Several men shot at it and failed to kill it, and then it flew away. Westlund, intent on getting the owl as a specimen, followed it in his car and bagged the big bird.

Persons who saw the owl shot by Westlund say that it was large, that it was all-white except for small brownish flecks on its breast, and that its eyes were yellow.

The conservation department reports that the great snowy owls invade Michigan about every four years. Cyclical declines in mice, lemmings, and rabbit populations north of the timberline in Canada are believed to explain the southward flights of the owls which are almost snow white in color. They have wingspreads of from 54 to 66 inches and weigh from three to four pounds. They are daytime hunters, differing in this regard from the native owls which feed mostly at night.

This year the owls have been reported seen as far south as Eaton and St. Clair counties. Last previous invasion was in the winter of 1941-42, and the biggest recorded flight of the owls was during the winter of 1926-27. None of the owls remain in this state later than the following April. The department is requesting persons who see or shoot these Arctic owls to report circumstances, localities and dates, thus lending assistance to cooperative effort with the University of Michigan to secure more information about their Michigan visits.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington—Here is one important tip-off showing the administration knew war was coming in the Pacific, but expected it in the Philippines . . . Adm. William Glassford, commanding U. S. gunboats in the Yangtze patrol, carefully shepherded his fleet out of Shanghai across tempestuous seas to Manila. They were flat-bottomed boats, dangerous in rough, deep-sea weather, but, knowing the Japs were about to strike, he made the emergency trip just before Pearl Harbor . . . at that time everyone expected the Japs to strike the Philippines, the Dutch East Indies or Singapore . . . one thing Pearl Harbor congressmen don't want to investigate is why, in view of these expectations, General MacArthur got caught with all his planes on the ground, losing 300 fighters and all his flying fortresses . . . If GOP congressmen do investigate—which they probably won't—they'll find that the air force officer in command of those planes urged MacArthur to let him take them off Clark Field—where the Japs later smashed them.

—JOHN L. LEWIS ORATES—

Battle-browed John L. Lewis delivered a speech in the secret sessions of the labor-management conference last week which has both labor and industry delegates buzzing.

Though Lewis is the most feared and hated of all labor leaders, his speech brought cheers from industry members, frowns from certain labor leaders.

"It's the best management speech on the whole wage-price issue," applauded H. W. Steinkraus of Bridgeport Brass, a management delegate.

What the mine union boss demanded at the closed-door meeting was wage increases, but—and it was a very big but—he also demanded price increases for industry. This cut right underneath the whole position of President Truman and many labor leaders, namely that wage increases plus price increases are meaningless, would only mean that labor paid more for everything.

President Truman and advisers have maintained that, while this might bring temporary benefits for organized union labor, it would hurt teachers, white-collar workers and, later, organized labor. Truman also maintains that industry has made enough profits from the war to afford wage increases and still make money, especially with taxes greatly reduced.

The fact that John L. Lewis opposed this indicated to insiders a three-way play: (1) He wants to undercut CIO's Phil Murray, who favors the government's position of wage increases without price increases; (2) He is bidding to take AFL leadership away from Bill Green; (3) He isn't averse to wrecking the entire labor-management conference.

John L. also has been handing out statements needing the steel and auto workers, telling them that they are asking for piddling wage increases. The Lewis statements are calculated to stiffen auto and steel workers' backs, make them dissatisfied with CIO leadership. Also, they are likely to help precipitate a strike, and Lewis knows from his own sad experience in the recent coal strike that strikes right now can be most unpopular with the public.

—NAVAL WAR-TUG—

A terrific backstage battle is raging between the admirals over who will replace Admiral King as chief of naval operations. The combat admirals want Ad. Chester Nimitz. They saw him operate in the Pacific. Admiral King himself is pushing Adm. Raymond Spruance, also an A-1 man. Secretary Forrestal is supporting Adm. R. S. Edwards, now deputy chief of naval operations and a leading promoter of navy imperialism . . . the first trial of the Kansas Kingfishes begins today when the head of the Kansas state police faces a jury—if Judge Helvering doesn't postpone it . . . Last week Gen. Lucius Clay, No. 2 boss of Germany, announced publicly that U. S. authorities in Naziland have asked for an additional $300,000,000 worth of food for the German people. Yet, on October 16, in a secret meeting of American generals, General Clay stated privately that the U. S. zone has a special reserve of 300,000 tons of food which it did not want to use until American public opinion favored feeding the Germans . . . Jesse Jones, the man whom Franklin Roosevelt kicked out of the cabinet, is now the man who really runs his old job of Federal Loan Administrator — backstage. President Truman has closed his eyes to it, but Jones's position in Washington today is just about as powerful as ever. He operates from room 450 in the Statler Hotel and his phone is so busy that not even his wife can reach him . . . If you want to buy a jeep, a truck, a factory, an oil refinery or some old tires, it's Jesse Jones's old outfit which handles it.

Q. What is the proposed twenty-second amendment to the U. S. Constitution?
A. It is a proposal to repeal the sixteenth amendment and provide, instead, that while Congress shall have power to collect income taxes, the maximum rate of tax shall not exceed 25 percent. The proposal has been endorsed by the legislatures of seventeen States. However, four of these States have rescinded their former action in this regard. Under the Constitution, an application from thirty-two States would require Congress to submit the proposal to the States for ratification.

ILLNESS TAKES JOHN GOUDREAU

Fisherman For Over 40 Years Dies At Home In Manistique

John A. Goudreau, 58, life resident of Schoolcraft county, died Wednesday afternoon at his home, 183 River street, after a long illness. Mr. Goudreau was born Sept. 25, 1887, at Epoufette, and moved to Seul Choix with his parents as a small boy. He was engaged as a commercial fisherman continuously from the time he was 12 years old up to his illness a few years ago, and also was identified with the timber business. He was married Sept. 7, 1916, at Manistique, to Mary Melican, who died in 1940. He was a member of St. Francis de Sales church and of the Manistique Elks lodge.

Surviving are two sons, George and Martin, both recently discharged from the navy, a daughter, Mary Agnes, at home; two brothers, Harvey of Manistique and Vern of Seul Choix; three sisters, Mrs. Oliver Perrault, Munising; Mrs. Lenore Buge, Marquette; and Mrs. Dave Potter, Calumet City, Ind.

The funeral will be held Saturday with services at St. Francis de Sales church at 9 a. m. with the Rev. Fr. B. J. P. Schavers officiating. Burial will be in Fairview cemetery. The body will lie in state at the Morton funeral home beginning at 10 a. m. Friday.

MARRIED FIFTY YEARS—Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Pavlot, early day residents of Carney, recently observed the 50th anniversary of their marriage. The event was observed at Four-Corners Hall, near Carney, with a reception and dance, attended by their children, grandchildren and host of friends.

Joseph Pavlot and Julia Jerabek, both natives of Kewaunee, Wis., were married in that city and a few years later settled on a farm at Nadeau. Retiring six years ago, they moved to Carney.

The Pavlots have five sons, Richard, who operates his father's farm; Frank, of Manistique; Edward, of Galesburg, Ill.; Joseph and Otto of Iron Mountain; two daughters, Mrs. Alfred Coons of Iron Mountain and Mrs. Henry Kickman, of Carney. They have twenty-two grandchildren. (Selkirk Photo.)

Local Paper Mill Plans To Reemploy Returning Veterans

Assurance to the veteran that his old job is waiting for him when he returns is embodied in an elaborately worked out plan recently announced by the Mead corporation, of which the Manistique Pulp and Paper company is a division.

Through the courtesy of R. G. Hentschell, manager of the local paper mill, a copy of the Mead corporation's "Policy and Procedure for the Reemployment of Servicemen Returning to Hourly Rated Jobs" has been sent to the Press office. The data in the pamphlet reveals that the policy as outlined exceeds the obligations under the Selective Service Act.

Through the provisions of this plan the corporation personnel director will assume full charge of the post-war personnel planning activities of the corporation and a responsible person in each plant shall be appointed to coordinate the activities of employment, medical attention, training, records and supervision with respect to the reemployment and rehabilitation of veterans.

The director in charge of this phase of activity, Mr. Hentschell states, must be completely familiar with all legislation and related interpretations which may govern reemployment and rehabilitation of the veteran. It will be his duty to keep in touch with all local veteran rehabilitation and reemployment agencies, to receive the returning serviceman and schedule his assignments, to assist in placing handicapped veterans in tasks in keeping with recommendations by the company doctor, and follow up the progress made by the veteran. His findings will be made the subject of periodic reports.

Every effort will be made to place the returning veteran in the job he formerly held. If this is not possible, "there should be good and compelling reasons."

In the event a promotion has been given that the veteran would have been entitled to try for, he will be returned to his former job for a period of not less than ninety days to acclimate himself to the duties and then, if found worthy of the promotion, be so honored.

Former employees who have incurred some physical handicap in the service will be classified according to their capabilities and assigned accordingly.

No referral card will be required from the U. S. Employment Service for the former employee to reestablish himself in the company. When a veteran presents himself at the company office, his record will be checked and employment commensurate with what he had before will be provided. Following a medical examination by the company doctor, the representative will review the case and assign the employee to duties for which he is best suited.

A follow-up system will be employed to ascertain the employee's adaptability to his assignment.

In cases where there are openings of a general nature, veterans will be given preference when applications are being considered.

COMMISH HAS BUSY SESSION

Plane Repair Station May Be Started Near Here

Interest in establishing an airplane maintenance and repair station here was evinced by James Roberts, formerly of Wells, and a Mr. Gray, an associate, at a regular meeting of the city commission this week.

It was indicated that the old Delta county airport south of the city would be suitable if put in condition for use. A prospective airport site north of Highway M-35 on the bluff was also shown to the men and it is reported that this also would be satisfactory if a port was established there.

Both men are pilots and plane owners.

Plans and specifications for a sewer in Wisconsin avenue, between Third and Fourth streets, were approved by the commission. There is a probability that tile pipe will not be available and concrete would have to be substituted. Approval of this change, however, would have to be given by the Michigan Health Department.

A resolution was adopted requesting the Michigan Park Commission to acquire Fayette and the harbor as a public park.

An offer of par plus a bonus is being made to the Ernest Kosok Co., of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, for $9,000 in city hall bonds which mature in 1957. City Atty. G. W. Jackson has been requested to contact the company in regard to the sale. Retirement of the bonds at this time will save the city a considerable amount in interest charges.

A communication from the Michigan Bell Telephone company suggesting a joint arrangement for use of city electric line poles was read and tabled.

A request from H. A. Sohn, city, to lease space near the Yacht Harbor for erection of a brick grill house was rejected.

Transportation will be furnished to bring a high slide from the Menominee park. One may also be acquired from Marquette.

The matter of sales tax on products which the cooperative canneries turned out here has been referred to City Atty. Jackson. The sales tax department is now attempting to collect $161.00 on products canned at the plant. It is the city's contention that the plant was operated on a non-profit basis and that the persons obtaining canned stuff merely paid for the labor and materials.

Girl Scout Board Hears Report On Regional Confab

The Girl Scout Board of Gladstone met in the school library Tuesday evening. Routine business was conducted and then Mrs. D'Amour gave a report of the Regional Conference held in Milwaukee last month. Miss Nancy Shankland, the professional worker in Delta county during November, attended the board meeting and introduced the national organization's "Plan of Work" for councils and troops.

This plan of work has for its theme "Citizenship in Action Around The World" and has a progression of interests which are to be developed. The girl's interest in her own troop program is naturally first, then in a city-wide program, then a national program and finally broadening of the girl's interest into the international field.

The ideas for these programs were developed by the girls in the United States, but because the Gladstone organization is so new, the girls here were unable to contribute any ideas this year. However, the ideas from girls in similar communities will be developed here by the girls with their leaders. The board members were most enthusiastic over the plan and are looking forward to a year of fun and progression in Scouting for the girls in this community.

Dizzy Trout Will Be Guest Speaker At Football Banquet Here

ANNUAL AFFAIR TO BE NOV. 26

Chuck Hostetler Also Is Booked For Dinner Program

Paul "Dizzy" Trout, famed pitcher of the world champion Detroit Tigers, will be the guest speaker at the annual Escanaba Chamber of Commerce football recognition banquet Monday evening, Nov. 26, it has been announced. Football players of the Escanaba and St. Joseph high schools will be honored at the banquet.

Accompanying Trout to Escanaba and included on the banquet program will be Charles "Chuck" Hostetler, outfielder of the Detroit Tigers, who has developed quite a reputation as a comedian as well as a ball player.

For the first time in the long history of the annual banquet, the Chamber of Commerce committee has gone outside the ranks of football to secure a speaker for the affair.

Last year Don Hutson, star of the Green Bay Packers, professional football club, was the guest speaker at the football recognition banquet.

Hunting Near Gwin

Trout is regarded as an excellent after-dinner speaker in the Detroit area, when he has appeared numerous times at athletic banquets. He is coming to the upper peninsula next week with Hostetler for a hunting trip near Gwin.

Teamed with Hal Newhouse, who was Trout's hunting companion on a similar deer hunting trip to the upper peninsula last season, Trout figured prominently in the Tigers' pennant drive this year, winning 18 games for the Tigers as well as scoring the victory that tied the series in the fourth game of the world series.

Last year Trout won 27 games for the Tigers but the Bengals lost the pennant on the closing day of the season.

Departing from tradition in selecting a man outside the ranks of football for the local banquet, the C-C committee picked Trout because of his fine record in professional baseball, his ability as a public speaker and primarily because sports that have much in common.

Trout joins a long list of "big names" in the athletic world who have been principal speakers at the Escanaba football recognition affair. The list includes, among

Nimrods Watch Skies For Tracking Snow As Deer Hunting Starts

(By The Associated Press)

Deer hunters from Clare to the Porcupine mountains watched the skies Wednesday night for snow which would give the final touch to Michigan's biggest deer hunting season, opening Thursday morning.

Rooming accommodations throughout northern Michigan were reported packed to the rafters on the night before the shooting starts and the state conservation department warned hunters who have no accommodations engaged to stay at home.

Predictions were for fair hunting conditions in the Upper Peninsula and of fair to good prospects in the northern half of the Lower Peninsula.

The temperature was lower than in several recent seasons when lucky hunters had to rush their kills home to avoid spoiling, but the nimrods prayed for snow to aid in tracking the wily bucks. The mercury stood at between 20 and 30 degrees in the Upper Peninsula, but was closer to 40 degrees in most parts of the lower peninsula.

The conservation department said there were lots of bucks available and there would be a record number of hunters out this season. The advance prediction is for 250,000 hunters, compared with 224,000 a year ago.

Some indication of the increase in the deer hunting army came from the state highway department's tabulation of 13,000 automobiles and 30,000 hunters crossing the Straits of Mackinac in the five days before the season.

Predicting the "biggest season ever," the experts said opening day shooting should be best in oak timber.

Police and conservation officers already were on the alert for dangerous use of firearms. Last season 13 persons were killed and 38 wounded by gun-fire during the deer season.

The conservation department advised lost hunters to stay close to where they lost their bearings, to build fires on high ground during the day time, to keep a natural shelter and to keep a fire going at night and to save shells with which to answer the signals of searchers.

Hunters were requested to leave their names and hunting locations with state police, conservation officers and sheriffs to facilitate the dispatching of emergency messages.

Hopes Brighten Up At Michigan State

East Lansing, Nov. 14 (P)—Spirits were a little higher in the Michigan State College football camp today as squad members learned that their key backfield and line members would be in uniform Saturday when the Spartans meet Penn State here for the first time in 20 years.

Team Physician Dr. Charles F. Holland said Walt Vezmar, star tackle who left the squad earlier this week because of a fear of aggravating a head wound received in action at Anzio, would be able to return to practice. Russ Reader, sparkplug in the Spartans' running and passing attacks, also reported his injured knee was in much better condition and that he would be able to see action against the Lions.

Others, Jim Crowley, Fritz Crisler, Bernie Bierman, Charles Bachman, Jimmy Conzelmann, Harry Stuhldreher, Jack Chevigny, who was killed at Iwo Jima, as well as Don Hutson.

Famed Indianapolis Speedway Sold By Capt. Rickenbacker

Indianapolis, Nov. 14 (P)—The world-famous Indianapolis Motor Speedway, home of the annual 500-mile automobile race, was sold today by Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker to Anton Hulman, Jr., Terre Haute, Ind., capitalist.

Hulman, who will be chairman of the board, announced that Wilbur Shaw, three-time winner of the speedway classic, would be president and general manager. T. E. (Pop) Myers, a veteran official of the speedway, will remain as vice-president.

Shaw said preparations would begin immediately to resume the Memorial Day race, suspended during the war, next May 30.

BANQUET SPEAKER—Paul "Dizzy" Trout, Detroit Tigers pitcher, will be the guest speaker at the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce football banquet Nov. 26 in honor of Escanaba and St. Joseph high school players it has been announced.

Badminton Play To Be Resumed Tonight At Senior High Gym

Some equipment is available but players are expected to bring their own shuttlecocks. Everyone is welcome. There is no charge.

Pro Grid Leagues Propose Playoffs

New York, Nov. 14 (P)—Arrangements for a possible playoff in both the Eastern and Western divisions of the National Football League, as well as the annual championship game between the two division winners, will be made at a meeting here tomorrow.

Commissioner Elmer Layden will be in charge of the meeting at the Hotel Commodore. The teams represented will be Cleveland, Detroit and Green Bay in the western half and Washington, Philadelphia and Boston in the east.

Rams-Lions Clash Sure To Bring Fireworks Thanksgiving Day

BY JIMMY JORDAN

Chicago, Nov. 14 (P)—Something akin to that old story about the irresistible force meeting the immovable object may occur in the National Football League Thanksgiving Day when Cleveland's Rams and Detroit's Lions pair off on the Lions' gridiron.

Detroit and Cleveland are tied for the Western division lead with six wins and one loss each. But between them, they offer a big contrast in football tactics.

The Lions, boasting one of the best lines in the league, lead the circuit in defensive tactics. In seven games, only 60 first downs have been marked up against them, and but 23 of them by rushing, official league statistics show.

The Thanksgiving Day game, when those statistics are considered, should decide which team will meet the Eastern division titlist for the league championship.

Right now, it appears that Washington should be the Eastern division representative, but the Redskins still have the Chicago Bears, second place Philadelphia, unpredictable Pittsburgh and New York on their schedule.

The Bears, with Sid Luckman passing, have thrown the most passes, 170, while Detroit had the most interceptions, 25, the official statistics show.

Washington leads in average distance of punts, with 44.2 yards, but is far behind Detroit in punt returns. The Lions have averaged 32 yards in punt returns.

Washington has allowed opponents to score but 84 points in six games, to lead in that end of the game, somewhat of a paradox in that Detroit leads in all defensive statistics but that one phase. Detroit has allowed 123 points scored, fifth in that respect.

John Schwalbach Stars With Army Team In Europe

Pfc. John Schwalbach, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Schwalbach, 511 North 20th street, fullback for the 331st infantry football team, now in Austria, starred for his team in a 7-0 victory over the Second cavalry in a game at Koltzing, Germany, recently.

The report of the game in an army newspaper includes the following:

"Starting from mid-field, the 331st advanced to the 12 yard line where the attack bogged down. Schwalbach attempted a field goal which was partially blocked, and was finally recovered by the Second cavalry on their own seven. They decided to kick out but the kick never got away. The 331st forward wall surged forward to rush the kicker and the boot was partially blocked. The ball squirted into the air and into the waiting arms of Schwalbach on the eight yard line. Without further ado, he scampered the distance to the goal line, going over standing up."

The Sports Parade

By Ken Gunderman

The deer hunting season opens today and you would probably like to know what your chances are of filling your license. Based on the 1944 records, if you're an average hunter, you have one chance in three of getting your deer, which, incidentally, is also the average for the United States as a whole as well as the average in Michigan. There were 224,708 hunters in Michigan last year and the deer kill was 70,980. If you hunted in Utah, you would have four chances out of five of filling your license. A total of 64,672 hunters bagged 51,777 deer there last season.

Much has been said about the excellent deer hunting in Pennsylvania but hunters in that state had a miserable season last year. An estimated 250,000 hunters bagged only 15,069 deer, or a ratio of only 6 per cent compared with Michigan's 32 per cent. The Pennsylvania kill was way below normal, however, because of bad weather. The Michigan deer kill last year was the highest of any state in the union in total number but Minnesota, which placed second with 62,820 deer killed, offered a better break for the individual hunter. There were only 96,497 hunters in Minnesota last year and 65 per cent of them filled their license.

Neighboring Wisconsin's 128,568 hunters produced a deer harvest of 35,150 carcasses or 28 per cent. Texas had a particularly high yield of 35,000 deer, taken by 60,000 hunters or 58 per cent. Ohio had the poorest average in the nation, only 1 per cent of the hunters in that state getting their deer. Ohio had 9,181 hunters of which only 102 bagged a deer. Tennessee had a particularly high average, 78 per cent, but only 408 deer were killed in that state. Permits were rigidly restricted in that state and there were only 523 hunters, which accounts for the unusually high percentage of kills.

In addition to Minnesota, Texas, Utah and Tennessee, Maine provided at least a 50-50 chance of hunters filling their license. Maine's 41,321 hunters killed 21,661 deer, slightly over 50 per cent. Oregon had a good season, 40,000 deer being taken by an estimated 100,600 hunters. Like Pennsylvania, Montana had a poor season last year, primarily due to bad weather, and only 5,103 deer were harvested in that state by 45,121 hunters, an 11 per cent average. California yielded 35,643 deer for 178,014 hunters and Colorado produced 25,185 deer for 61,221 hunters.

The Michigan deer kill in 1945 probably will exceed the tremendous yield of nearly 71,000 harvested in 1944, if weather conditions improved in the next few days. For one thing, there are indications that the number of hunters will be the greatest in the state's history. The conservation department further reports that the hunting prospects are above normal due to mild winters of the past two years and a heavy fawn crop last spring. When the final reports are in, it would not be surprising if the yield exceeded 75,000 for the first time in history.

PURDUE SHINES IN AIR ATTACK

Michigan Must Win Next Two Games To Grab Conference Title

Ann Arbor, Nov. 14 (P)—Spectators at the University of Michigan-Purdue clash here Saturday are slated to see a one man Boiler-maker aerial assault and most likely will witness a continuation of the Wolverines' passing game despite injuries to Michigan's best remaining passer, Walt Teninga.

Both teams have records of three victories and one defeat in Conference competition. Michigan is rated as the best defensive team in the Big Ten as the Wolverines have held opponents to 129 yards gained.

Michigan must trounce Purdue, and Ohio State the following week, in order to grab the Conference title, but Purdue has to co-operate in Michigan's title hopes by defeating Indiana, Nov. 24.

Bob DeMoss, Boiler-maker quarterback, is Purdue's passing threat as the freshman operating from the T formation, has tossed all Purdue passes this season for an average of 560 yards completed.

A resumption of Michigan's air attack (23 passes were used against Navy last week) seems assured for Head Coach H. O. (Fritz) Crisler is working Navy Trainee Wes Mueller in at the left halfback position in place of the injured Teninga, not expected to see action against Purdue.

A Colfax, Ill., product, Mueller appears a ready, fast moving ball handler and his pass completion record in practice so far is a good one. Paired with Pete Elliott, other Wolverine tailback who probably will do the rushing from that spot, Mueller may be able to keep Michigan's air game up to par.

Up in the line, Al Wahl has taken over the right tackle spot held by Eugene Hinton, as the Drumright, Okla., freshman is bothered with an injured hip, the result of the Navy game.

Today's practice saw a continuation of blocking and tackling emphasis and the Wolverines once more worked a while after dark to take advantage of every minute available.

GLOOM CAME

Gloom Came First In Street Names

Newport News, Va. (P)—The Associated Press reported recently that J. L. Johnson must have been happy when he started marking off a subdivision on Fox Hill here, because—

The first street was named "Wealth," the second "Happiness," and the third "Health." The story opined that something evidently happened, because the last street was named "Gloom."

Johnson, queried by the Virginia Peninsula Association of Commerce, says it was just the other way. He started off with "Gloom," and ended up with "Health," "Happiness" and "Wealth," or at least with streets named in that order. The names are to indicate to the newcomer to the division that this might be in store for him.

at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Vallier. He served three years in the U. S. W. Pacific. He is wearing 15 battle stars. The U. S. S. San Diego was the first of the fleet to enter Tokyo Bay.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Klobuchner and daughter Joan returned home Wednesday following a two weeks visit with relatives at Lansing and Detroit. Michael was recently discharged from the army. He served two years overseas.

M/Sgt. Frank E. Proton of the Dugway Proving Grounds, Tooele Utah is spending 30 days visiting his sisters, Miss Selma Proton and Mrs. Ed Vallier and brother Louis and family. Sgt. Proton has had 21 years of army service. He served overseas in World War I.

Miss Louise and Mary Proton returned to Grand Haven Monday after a weeks visit at the Louis Proton home. On Saturday they were accompanied by their brother Sgt. Frank Proton and spent the day with their sister, Mrs. Julius Courville at Escanaba.

Mrs. Louis Proton spent Thursday at Manistiquie visiting her mother Mrs. E. Wacker. She was accompanied by Mrs. Lawrence Link and Mrs. August Bessler.

Mrs. Jack Hillman and son Johnny and Mrs. Stewart and small daughter of Manistiquie spent Friday visiting her mother, Mrs. Louis Proton.

Council To Discuss City Pension Plan At Meeting Tonight

City councilmen will consider a resolution to establish an airport board and will discuss the recent decision of city employees to accept one of the two state sponsored pension plans at their regular meeting at the city hall tonight at 8 o'clock.

Other matters on the agenda tonight include consideration of the purchase of a hangar at the old airport and a report on bids received for several lots in the S. H. Selden addition at First Avenue south and Sixteenth street.

Hold Webster Pack Den Chief's Meeting

A meeting of the Den Chiefs of Webster Cub Pack 416, was held Tuesday evening at the home of the Cubmaster, Jens T. Jensen.

The purpose of the meeting was to instruct further the responsibilities of the den chiefs in correlation of their work relative to the pack as a whole, Den Mothers and Cubmaster. Those in attendance were: Richard Gilbert, Duane Benard, William Benard and Jens T. Jensen.

Plans were also discussed regarding the forthcoming cub circuit to be held by the pack in the near future. All personnel of the pack are working toward the completion of their plans.

According to the report of the Cubmaster, the pack now numbers over 40 members, and is operating well in four dens, complete with adequate leadership.

Cub Scout Pack Shows Progress At Washington School

Much progress has been shown in the growth of the Washington school Cub Pack, according to a report presented by Arthur Servant, cubmaster of Pack 416, at a recent meeting of the Washington PTA.

There are now registered 18 Cubs, three Cubmasters, three committeemen and eight Den mothers serving the three Dens. Members in each Den totals seven or eight.

Den mothers are Mesdames Ova Savard, John McGovern, Amir Pederson, Art Servant, Ed Nelson, Ben Gagnon, Van Effen, Sheedlo, and Theodore Durener.

There is a need for Den mothers in the area of Stephenson avenue and Eleventh and Twelfth streets north. The Den in this area is not able to meet except at the Cubmaster's residence because of the lack of Den mothers. Parents of Cubs in this area are asked to contact the Cubmaster and offer their assistance.

As an outstanding project, the Pack, under the direction of Amir Pederson, is working on handicraft objects, which will be placed on display when completed. Each Den meets at the Pederson residence in rotation. Objects which have been previously sawed out are given to the Cubs, who are instructed how to finish them. Completion of the objects is left up to the Cubs, who may get assistance in their respective homes. According to Mr. Pederson, the project is working well.

Munising News

Police Catch Boys Who Escaped From Vocational School

Munising—Jack Stephens, 16, of Munising, and Dan Dewey, 16, of Detroit, two of 12 boys who escaped from the Boy's Vocational School at Lansing Nov. 10, were taken into custody here Tuesday afternoon by State Trooper Graham Peebles, after they had made their way here in stolen cars.

After the boys escaped from the school last Saturday, officers said they stole a car in East Lansing and drove it to St. Johns, Mich., where they abandoned it and stole another which they drove to Alma. Leaving the second machine at Alma they picked up a '42 model automobile and drove to Mackinaw City.

According to the report they ran short of funds there and broke into a restaurant early Sunday morning and stole $60. They crossed the straits on an early morning ferry and arrived here Monday.

City police were unaware that the pair had escaped from the school until Urban Trombley, city patrolman, recognized Stephens driving by in a stolen car Monday.

Later in the day Trooper Peebles picked up the boys on the Sand Point road.

Jack Stephens was sent to the vocational school about three weeks ago after he had confessed stealing 17 cars during the summer months.

The two boys also admitted stealing an antique pistol from a hunter's car parked near the Pictured Rocks sometime Monday, police said.

Dewey and Stephens are being held in the county jail but it is not known what action will be taken against them.

Heart Clinic To Be Held In Alger County Schools

Munising — Alger county has been chosen as one county in the Upper Peninsula in which a special survey will be made to find possible heart conditions among the grade school children. This is very important because 70 per cent of children who have rheumatic fever are left with permanent heart damage.

Rheumatic fever also causes more deaths in children between five and fifteen years of age than any other disease.

The heart examinations will be conducted by Dr. M. Cooperstock of the Northern Michigan Children's clinic. He will be assisted by Miss Elizabeth Bichers, cardiac nursing consultant, and Miss Elizabeth Towne, medical social worker. Miss Hilma Asikainen, Alger county public health nurse, is assisting with the plans and making tentative dates with the schools.

Clinics will be conducted in the schools once a week. The first one will be held Tuesday, Nov. 20, in the Eben high school at 9 a. m.; in the afternoon at the Chatham grade school at 1 p. m.; and at 3:30 p. m. the same day in the Forest Lake school.

War Fund Quota Almost Complete

Munising — A report by Ken Bakkum, chairman of the Alger county United War Fund, shows that $2100 of the $2233 quota for the city of Munising has been collected so far.

It is believed that the quota will be easily reached by the city. The $2100 represents 95 per cent of the quota.

Mr. Bakkum requests that townships make a report not later than Friday of their collections up to that day.

Dr. Karl Gray Is Found Guilty Of Reckless Driving

Dr. Karl Gray, 810 Lake Shore Drive, pleaded guilty to a charge of reckless driving here yesterday in Justice of the Peace Henry E. Ranguette's court and was fined $50 and costs of $25.55.

An original charge of driving while under the influence of liquor made against the defendant by city police officers following a minor accident on Ludington street last Saturday night was withdrawn upon motion of the defense attorney.

Hospital

Mrs. Milton Lindblad is recuperating at her home at 327 South Fifth street following several weeks at the St. Francis hospital where she was treated for a serious infection.

ected so far. It is believed that the quota will be easily reached by the city. The $2100 represents 95 per cent of the quota.

It is hoped that the township chairmen of the drive will turn in their quota 100 per cent to send the War Fund over the top.

Mr. Bakkum requests that townships make a report not later than Friday of their collections up to that day.

DEER HUNTERS AND OTHER LOCKER PATRONS

Due to the increased demand for year-around locker storage, we will not have the facilities for skinning and storing the whole carcass of deer this season.

Any deer stored here must be skinned and ready for cutting and packaging before it is brought in. Do not plan on storing more than your locker space will accommodate as the extra storage space we had in the past years is not available this year.

Your cooperation will be appreciated.
